7. Physiographic Division Of The District

7.1 PHYSIOGRAPHY Physiographically, Rewa district can be divided into four units i.e. Vindhyan Hills, Rewa Plateau, Kaimur Hills & Northern Low Lying Ground. The district has a varied terrain that includes alluvial plains, hills, ravines, scarp, rivers, and water-falls. The rain-water of the district flows out along two tributary rivers of the Ganga, the Tons or Tamas and the Son. The Bichiya River flows through the heart of Rewa city. Other rivers are - Beehar, Mahana, Odda, Nihai, Belan etc

7.2 River and Water Falls: The plateau is drained by the Tamas or Tons and the Son and their tributaries. The Kaimur Range forms the watershed between the two rivers. Most of the rivers originate in the Kaimur Range. Significant waterfalls on the Tamas or Tons and its tributaries, as they come down from the Rewa Plateau, are: Chachai Falls (127m) on the Bihar River, a tributary of the Tamas, the Keoti Falls (98m) on the Mahana River, a tributary of the Tamas, Bahuti Falls (145m) on the Odda River, a tributary of the Belah River, which is itself a tributary of the Tamas, and Purwa Falls (70m) on the Tamsa or Tons.

7.3 GEOLOGY The geological formation in the district is mainly Vindhyan Formation. The area forms a part of the northern marginal belt of the peninsular bordering the Indo - Gangetic plains. The quartzites, sandstones, shales and limestone, belonging to upper Vindhyan formation, generally underlie district. The recent sediments form thin alluvium covers ranging in thickness from 15 to 45 m, in the valley of the major rivers and along their tributaries overlying the Vindhyan basement. The geological succession in the district is as follows and geological map shown in Plate.

7.4 SOIL The district is generally covered with red & yellow mixed soils. The soil has developed mainly from the weathering of shales & sandstones. Generally soil is argillaceous mixed with lime kanker. In Teonthar tehsil alluvial soils are found in the vicinity of the Tons River and its tributaries (fig 2). These soils vary in color from ash to light brown and mostly sandy loam & clay loams.

9. Geology and Mineral Wealth

9.1 GEOLOGY The geological formation in the district is mainly Vindhyan Formation. The area forms a part of the northern marginal belt of the peninsular bordering the Indo - Gangetic plains. The quartzites, sandstones, shales and limestone, belonging to upper Vindhyan formation, generally underlie district. The recent sediments form thin alluvium covers ranging in thickness from 15 to 45 m, in the valley of the major rivers and along their tributaries overlying the Vindhyan basement. The geological succession in the district is as follows and geological map shown in Plate.

Regional Geology-The area traversed belongs to the Vindhya basin and rock type encountered basically represent formations of this super group with majority formations belonging to upper vindhyan. The regional geology of the area is as follows:

9.2 MINERAL RESOURCES OF REWA: The important minerals occurring in the District are Limestone, Bauxite, Laterite, Ochre, White Clay, Silica sand. the district has vast resources of minor minerals in the form of building material like flagstone, stone for making gitti and murum.

9.2.1 Limestone: Extensive deposits of limestone occur in Huzur Tahsil of Rewa districts. Limestone is used for manufacturing cement,. The limestone deposits are mostly located in Baijnath, Marha, Bankuiyan, Maddheypur, Sonara , Garhwa, Chhijwar, Noubasta and Sumeda village. Other economical deposits are located in Pahadiya, Chrogradhi and puraina village of Raipur Karchulian Tahsil.

9.2.3 Silica Sand: The silica sand deposits in the District are mostly confined Ansara, Kotwa Khas, Raghunathpur and Hadhai village of Java tahsil. The silica sand produced in the district is mostly utilised for glass manufacture and foundry industry in the country.

9.2.4 Laterite, Ochre and White Clay: Almost all Bauxite deposits in the Semaria tahsil are associated with laterite Ochre and White clay. Important mineral occurrences of the District are Chitti, Judmani, Kumhara Judmani, Salaiya and Bhamra village of Semaria tahsil.

9.2.5 Flagstone: Extensive deposits of white, buff, cream, pink and green coloured Sandstone (Flagstone) occurs in the Hata, Lodhi, Banna Mahatman, Panti mishran village of Hanumana Tahsil and Koidar village of Mauganj Tahsil of Rewa district. At present about 28 quarry leases of flagstone is operational.

9.2.6 Stone: About 163 quarry lease are sanctioned in the district for making gitti. Major location of quarry lease is Darhi, Marha, Dadar, Pathargadhi, Bankuiyan, Sumeda, Baijnath, Madhheypur village of Huzur tehsil .Barha, Mahewa and Gadarganwa in Teonthar Tahsil. Sardaman, Beeradei, Nakwar, Jackud Gada in Hanumana and Harraha, Harraigujran, Bhati junhal in Mauganj Tahsil.

11. Surface water and ground water scenario

11.1 HYDROGEOLOGY The occurrence, movement & recharge of ground water is governed by water bearing properties of the different litho units occurring in the area. Hydrogeological map of the district is given as figure 4. The water bearing properties of different hydrogeological units in the district are described as under:

11.1.1 Kaimur: - The Kaimur rocks forming the hilly tracts of the district comprise consolidated quartzites, sandstones & shales. These rocks possess meager porosity and permeability. Joints, fissures & fractures developed in these rocks provide secondary porosity. The yield of the rocks of the Kaimur series is poor.

11.1.2 Rewa Series: The Rewa sandstones are hard & compact with little primary porosity. The weathered & fractured sandstones control occurrence & movement of ground water on a limited scale. In the topographic low areas weathered residuum attains a maximum thickness of 5 m. The yield of sandstones & shales ranges from 1 to 3 and Along the joints & planes of stratification "Grikes" & solution cavities are developed. These Cavernous limestones hold good amount of ground water.

11.1.3 Alluvium: - The alluvium in the area is mainly composed of silt, fine to medium grained sands with admixtures of clay and little amount of Kankars. The sandy horizons are encountered at depth of 25 to 35 m below ground level in Jawa block, 30 to 35 m bgl. in Teonthar block. Thickness of alluvium in Jawa & Teonthar blocks varies from 20 to 45 m and in Mauganj & Rewa & Raipur blocks varies from 4 to 7 m. The tube wells tapping this horizon sustain yield of the order of 450 to 673 m³/day with the draw down of 3 to 10 m recorded after 24 hours of pump mg.

11.2 Ground Water Resources Rewa district is underlain by Vindhyan Shale, Limestone and Sandstone and Alluvium. Dynamic ground water resources of the district have been estimated for base year -2008/09 on block-wise basis. There are nine assessment units (block) in the district which fall under non-command. All blocks, of the district are categorized as safe excepts Gangeo block as semi critical. The highest stage of ground water development is computed as 82 % in Gangeo block. The net ground water availability in the district is 46,801 ham and ground water draft for all uses is 24,289 ham, making stage of ground water development 52 % as a whole for district. After making allocation for future domestic and industrial supply for next 25 years, balance available ground water for future irrigation would be 21079 ham.

11.3 Ground Water Scenario: Depth to water level Pre-monsoon (May 2012) The pre-monsoon depth to water level in the district ranges between 4.85 m bgl and 29.32m bgl. Major part of the district have water level in the range of 8-20 m bgl during the pre monsoon.

11.4 Post-monsoon (November 2012) during post-monsoon period, water level varies from 1.60m bgl to 17.70m bgl. In major part of the district, water level lies between 5 & 10 m bgl.

14. Quality/grade of mineral available in the district:

The district is endowed with various types of mineral resources like Limestone, Bauxite, Laterite, Silica Sand, White Clay, etc. Due to presence of huge mineral resources, mining activities have been undertaken in a big scale. Noubasta, Bankuiyan, Marha, Madheypur, Baijnath are the places in the district having deposits of the limestone. Limestone of the area are cement grade which is use cement industry of the district. The district's mineral deposits have not been utilized to maximum extent for industrial purpose. Road metal/Building stone of the district are very much suitable for various construction purposes after crushing and screening. The Quartzitic sandstone and low grade siliceous limestone is suitable for making gitti. Mainly sand stone bearing area are prominently present in the district.

15. Use of Mineral:

Quartzitic sandstone / low grade siliceous limestone rocks have been extensively used as road metal / building stone for construction of roads, buildings and various infrastructure development works. It is also used as a sub base and base material in road, railway and highway construction.

16. Demand and supply of the mineral in the last three years:

As such there are huge infrastructural activities such as road, building, railways are coming up by Govt. of India PSUs and State Govt. The Sandstone and low grade siliceous limestone are the main raw minerals for the above activities and considering the last three years' actual production of (gitti) in Rewa with respect to the requirement of the district has a no gap of demand and supply. Mainly minor mineral demanded from near by state Uttar Pradesh and mostly minor mineral (gitti) supply depends on nearest state construction work.

21. Impacts on the environment due to mining activity:

The most important environmental impact of mining projects is:- Transportation sources: Transportation sources of air pollutants include heavy vehicles used in excavation operations, cars that transport personnel at the mining site, and trucks that transport mining materials. The level of polluting emissions from these sources depends on the fuel and conditions of the equipment. Even though individual emissions can be relatively small, collectively these emissions can be of real concern. In addition, mobile sources are a major source of particulate matter, carbon monoxide, and volatile organic compounds that contribute significantly to the formation of ground-level ozone. Fugitive emissions: Common sources of fugitive emissions include: storage and handling of materials; mine processing; fugitive dust, blasting, construction activities, and roadways associated with mining activities; leach pads, and tailing piles and ponds; and waste rock piles. Sources and characteristics of fugitive emissions dust in mining operations vary in each case, as do their impacts. Impacts are difficult to predict and calculate but should be considered since they could be a significant source of hazardous air pollutants. Noise and vibration: Noise pollution associated with mining may include noise from vehicle engines, loading and unloading of rock into steel dumpers, chutes, power generation, and other sources. Cumulative impacts of shoveling, ripping, drilling, blasting, transport, crushing, grinding, and stock-piling can significantly affect wildlife and nearby residents.

22. Remedial Measure to mitigate the impact of mining on Environment

A. Air Pollution Control Measures

- All trucks/tractor trolleys will be covered by tarpaulin sheet to prevent dust emission.
- Regular water sprinkling shall be done on the haul road
- Overloading of trucks/tractor trolleys shall be avoided
- Ultra low sulphur diesel shall be used in the vehicles.
- Regular maintenance of the vehicles will be carried out and fitness certificate from the concerned authority shall be ensured before deployment of the vehicles.
- PCB prescribed emission Standard for the vehicle would be adhered to.
- Preference of wet mining.
- Transportation of Gitti (Road Metal) by vehicles under tarpaulin covers
- Plantation on preserved top soil.

B. Noise Pollution Control Measures

- Minimum use of horns and speed limit in the village area.
- Timely maintenance of vehicles and their silencers to minimize vibration and sound
- Provision of green belts in consultation with village panchayat along the road networks for attenuation of noise pollution. Regular maintenance of vehicles shall be ensured.

C. Water Pollution Control Measures

- Laborers would not be allowed to throw trashes in the water bodies.
- The washing of tractor/trucks nearby the mine lease area shall be avoided. Water (ground water) quality monitoring shall be carried out on seasonal basis to ensure that the ground water quality is not affected by the project activities.
- The proponent will adhere to the guidelines and rules for proper and scientific method of mining during the stone extraction. Thus, the project activities shall not have any adverse impact on the physical components of the environment. Quarry pit may increase the recharge of ground water.

D. Occupational health and safety

- Basic first aid (first aid –box) facility on site.
- Personal Protective Equipments (PPE)- Mandatory for workers.
- Awareness on safety- quarterly training programmes
- Mining activities will be completely stopped during rainy season.

23. Reclamation of mined out area:

Reclamation – Reclamation means return the mined-out land with useful life. It implies restoring the land to a form and productivity that is useful and inconformity with a prior land use. Reclamation always may not be a single- phase operation. ii. Rehabilitation – Rehabilitation is to bring batch the degraded land to a normal stage by a special treatment. It is a process of taking some mitigation measures for disturbed environmental condition created through mining activities. iii. Restoration – Restoration is the process of returning the mined out land being fit to an acceptable environmental condition. However, the general acceptable meaning of the term is bringing the disturbed land to its original form. Restoration is often used to indicate that biological properties of soil are put back to what they were. This is a rate phenomenon. iv. When active mining ceases, mine facilities and the site are reclaimed and closed.

24. Risk assessment and disaster management plan:

Mining activity because of the very nature of the operation, complexity of the systems, procedures and methods always involves some amount of hazards. Hazard identification and risk analysis is carried for identification of undesirable events that can leads to a hazard, the analysis of hazard mechanism by which this undesirable event could occur and usually the estimation of extent, magnitude and likelihood of harmful effects. The activities which can cause high risk related to face stability and the person blasting the shots. It was observed that on a working face of the mine, there were large cracks and unsupported rocks were present, which can lead to a serious hazard and injure workers engaged in loading operation and machineries because of rock falls or slides. This type of condition turn out because improper dressing of the bench and improper supervision. To avoid the hazards due to fall of rocks the face must be examined, made suitable for working and the remedial measures must be taken to make it safe if there is any doubt that a collapse could take place. Working of the face should be in the direction taking into account the geology of the area such that face and quarry side remain stable. Another major risk identified in mines is due to the firing of explosive by an unqualified person. In the mines there is problem of fly rocks and the village is located close to the mine and so it is rated high as it can affect may people. Explosives by nature have the potential for the most serious and catastrophic accident. Planning of round of shots, holes correctly drilled, direction logged, weight of explosive suitable for good fragmentation are the few of the steps necessary to ensure its safe use and if the shots are not properly designed can result in misfires, early ignition and flying rocks. No person is allowed to use explosives without being properly trained in its handling. In the mine a large

25. Occupational health issue in the district:

The persons employed in the mines are exposed to a number of hazards at work which adversely affect their health. Some of the important ones are dust, noise, heat, humidity, vibration etc. Almost all occupational diseases can be prevented by adopting proper occupational health measures and engineering control on airborne dust pollution at workplace. Occupational Diseases in mines or industry is required to conduct medical examinations and health surveillance of workers as per the provisions of Mines Act. The essential features of health surveillance programme required to be carried out in mines are:

89

- (a) Initial Medical Examination of persons to be conducted at the time of appointment.
- (b) Periodic Medical Examination or General physical examination to be conducted once in every year.
- (c) Patients of silicosis disease have not come to light in last 3 years.

26. Plantation and green belt development in respect of lease already granted in the district:

Green belt along lease boundary and both sides of transportation road shall be developed in almost all the existing leases in the district. Maximum numbers of plants shall be planted in each year around the lease boundary and both sides of transportation road as mentioned in mining plan. Some mine owner also planted a large number of plants outside the lease area to develop green belt in the district. Neem, Shisham, Aam, Sal, Arjun, Teak, Mahua, Eucalyptus, sagwan, Karanj, Subabool, Gulmohar and Banyan etc are some important plants commonly planted in mine site of Rewa district. It is proposed to have a detailed record of plantation to be kept by the respective owner/agent/manager of the mine every year, which has been planted in the safety zone area and transport rout, which is statutorily required.

27. Any other information:

During the preparation of the present report minor mineral (stone) sites have been studied in detail for grant of mineral concession for mineral based industries; however it is also important to mention here that because of the regular demand of stone for the developmental activities in the respective areas, such sites are prone to illegal mining. It is suggested that the sanction of stone quarries should be done regularly as per MP Minor Mineral Rules 1996. These mineral concessions shall also reduce demand load and will be helpful to minimize illegal extraction of minerals. Irrespective of it following geo-scientific considerations are also suggested to be taken into account during the stone mining in a particular area:

- 1. Mining below ground water level should be avoided as a safeguard against environmental contamination and over exploitation of resources.
- 2. Hazardous effects of such mining activities should be evaluated periodically and avoided for sustainable mining activities.
- 3. Mining area should be demarcated on the ground with Pucca pillars so as to avoid illegal unscientific mining.
- 4. All the resources are calculated on the data collected by surface visualization and geological investigation. Hence the resource evaluated may vary during production stages.
