

H43W4	H43W2	H43W6
H43W5	H43W3	H43W7
H43W8	H43W1	H43W9

Survey of India
 Survey of India

CONVENTIONAL SYMBOLS

Capital Town Village Hamlet Railway Station Railway Line Road Canal River Lake Sea Mountain Hill Forest Cultivated Land Barren Land Sand Salt Pans Ice Snow Cloud Sun Moon Star Compass North Arrow Scale Bar Index Map	Capital Town Village Hamlet Railway Station Railway Line Road Canal River Lake Sea Mountain Hill Forest Cultivated Land Barren Land Sand Salt Pans Ice Snow Cloud Sun Moon Star Compass North Arrow Scale Bar Index Map
--	--

The Survey of India is a department of the Government of India, responsible for the surveying and mapping of the country. It is one of the oldest and largest surveying organizations in the world. The Survey of India is responsible for the production and distribution of maps of India, and for the maintenance of the national map. It is also responsible for the surveying and mapping of the Indian Ocean, and for the surveying and mapping of the Indian subcontinent.

The Survey of India is a department of the Government of India, responsible for the surveying and mapping of the country. It is one of the oldest and largest surveying organizations in the world. The Survey of India is responsible for the production and distribution of maps of India, and for the maintenance of the national map. It is also responsible for the surveying and mapping of the Indian Ocean, and for the surveying and mapping of the Indian subcontinent.

The Survey of India is a department of the Government of India, responsible for the surveying and mapping of the country. It is one of the oldest and largest surveying organizations in the world. The Survey of India is responsible for the production and distribution of maps of India, and for the maintenance of the national map. It is also responsible for the surveying and mapping of the Indian Ocean, and for the surveying and mapping of the Indian subcontinent.