The land of Village Dadhi Bana, District Charkhi Dadri, Haryana is owned by User Agency (Irrigation Department, Haryana) which will be transferred to Forest Department in lieu of diversion of forest land. The land is degraded and it will be restored by carrying out Compensatory Afforestation. The land selected for restoration that is in highly degraded state and the density is less than 40%.

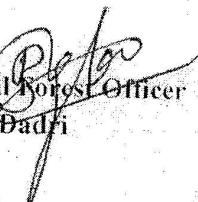

The land is suitable for plantation as only 0.9 Ha. area is available out of proposed 3.24 Ha. There is only scope of a gap plantation on the site. About 1650 trees of girth more than 30 cm are standing on the site, which implies that 80-85 percent area is already tree covered. The adjoining areas have good cultivated land, therefore, it has potential for rehabilitation.

The land identified for Compensatory Afforestation is suitable for restoration and will be helpful in meeting the restoration of 13 million ha degraded forest landscape under Bonn Challenge.
