Justification

Godda College, Godda established on 15 August 1954 has been the only higher institution in this area imparting education of UG, PG, B.Ed., and various research activities. The College had been established on concerned land (now a forest area). The Santhal Pargana region is a large forest-dominated area inhabited by tribal groups, primitive tribal, scheduled castes, and extremely backward castes. The people of this area have been facing economic difficulty for many decades.

Since its inception Godda College Godda has been serving society by delivering quality higher education in the streams of science, arts, and education. It is the only constituent (Govt.) unit of S.K.M. University (State University of Jharkhand) institution for higher education that imparts education to the students of primitive tribes, S.T, S.C, and OBC.

In the town area, there is no government college except Godda college, Godda for girls although a large number of girls students get enrolled themselves in the college every year. As per government directive, in the same campus Godda College, Godda has been providing +2 educations along with IGNOU courses. The College has been providing degrees to more than 6 thousand students each year and it is expected that number of the students will increase in the coming year. Since its inception, lac of students took degrees from the college.

Moreover, the College has been empowering the locals which will positively reflect in the protection and conservation of forest land and the environment. At UG level Environment Study papers are compulsory for all students as per UGC guidelines. The College also runs courses in Botany, Zoology, Environment and Geography which is useful in conserving the biodiversity of this region.
