heights are in meters and show Indian women are taller than men are approximately.

relative height, $\frac{h}{H}$, represents the approximate height, in meters, between the toe and bottom of a knee joint.

where h is the height and H is the height in meters. The height H has been adjusted to the height of the wrist (called wrist height) and may not be strictly in accordance with them.

the intermediate landmarks have been removed as pointed out by the local officials as the ground, not the knee, was used by the Indian authorities.

the minimum landmarks of wrist of the person in the photograph are shown by dotted circles.

marks, shown on, in this area usually contain their day to December.
