

COST AND BENEFIT ANALYSIS

Brief Description of project:

GAIL (India) Limited is planning to lay 36"/24" natural gas pipeline from Jhansi (U.P.) – Auraiya(U.P.) - Phulpur(U.P.) pipeline in order to enhance the gas transmission capacity to various customers.

Cost of project:

The estimated capital expenditure of project is Rs. 2650 Cr. For approximately 473 Km. proposed pipeline in UP state. The return on investment shall be about 10%.

Project Finance:

The project is being implemented by GAIL's financial resources.

Completion Schedule:

The commissioning of the pipeline project has been targeted on or before March-2018.

Benefits:

1. Uninterrupted natural gas supply to the customers.
2. Enhancement of the productivity.
3. Improvement of quality of product.
4. Safe supply of gas.
5. Transportation of gas through pipeline is pollution free, environmental friendly and reliable mode of transport.
6. To generate employment for skilled/unskilled manpower during execution of the project.

For GAIL (India) Ltd.

Pradeep Yadav

Sr. Manager(Construction)

Lucknow

Pradeep Yadav

Sr. Manager (Construction), Lucknow

GAIL (India) Ltd.

लखनऊ (226010)

Lucknow (226010)