Justification for location of project in forest area

1) The proposed project is a hospital which will be treating cancer patients. Many cancer patients who are not curable, will be needing palliative care. The quiet atmosphere with lots of beautiful greenery around in the Langol foothills is an ideal location for palliative care.

2) Many cancer patients are immuno-compromised due to their disease or as a result of chemotherapy. The surrounding of Langol with clean fresh air and less pollution will benefit these immuno-compromised patients.

3) Cancer patients at an advanced incurable stage have a shortened lifespan and the social issues associated with this when other people come to know of the shortened lifespan. As such, many patients and/or relatives want to maintain confidentiality of the diagnosis or treatment. A hospital located far off from city centre, like a location in the foothill of Meitei Langol which is a road less travelled upon, will help in maintaining this confidentiality.

4) As to the question why a cancer hospital is needed at all, the current scenario is that North-East India, including Manipur has the highest incidence of cancer in India. Sadly, there is no dedicated hospital in Manipur at present where the facility for proper investigations and treatment under one roof is available. Many patients, accompanied by two or more attendants, go outside Manipur for treatment leading loss of workforce and expenditures of crores of Rupees every year just for travel and accommodation. The establishment of a dedicated cancer hospital in Imphal, the capital city of Manipur, will help solve many of these issues.
