JUSTIFICATION OF LOCATING THE PROJECT IN THE FOREST AREA

The main purpose of a residential school is - to give quality education to poor students of villages and remote areas. Maximum student of Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalaya are taken from remote areas. The J.N.V. students should be kept in a place where they can live together without harming their health. The forest area is free from all kinds of pollution and hustle and bustle of public gathering. So It gives a very good environment and atmosphere to students for achieving something great in their lives.

The detail justification of locating the school in the forest area is given below:-

1. The primary concern of our school is to give quality education to all students in a good environment and atmosphere and a forest area which is free from all kinds of pollution gives a suitable environment to students.
2. Academic excellence can only be achieved by creating healthy atmosphere. A forest area is located very far from busy place. So it is free from public intervention.
3. Students need to concentrate only in their studies. There should not be any outside public disturbances. So a school should be located in a area where there are less public interventions.
4. A residential school requires land for all kinds of activities. We need land for hostels, playground and academic building .A forest area gives lot of land for making all such building.
5. The plot where the school is going to open is very well connected with roads as well as railway station.
6. All Kinds of sports facilities can only be given to students if we have enough area for them. A forest area has no scarcity of lands. It provides enough area for all kinds of sports activities.
7. Maximum Navodaya Vidyalaya of the country are located in rural areas. The state Govt. offers cost free land for the setting up of a school. A forest area is situated in rural area and land is easily available for the school.
8. The students should be kept very far away from noisy places and a forest area provides such place.
9. The esthetic sense in a student's mind and body can only be created in a beautiful natural place. A forest area creates such kind of esthetic sense.
10. Many other institutional buildings like university and collages are going to open in that area. So a healthy educational environment is going to be created in that place. It will create a sense of security among the students and staffs.
