● CCTVs and backup generators installed at centres
● Election authorities ensure transparency and commitment
● Process monitored by Election Commission for fairness

Training classes on the vote-counting process have been conducted for micro-observers, counting supervisors, counting assistants, and AROs at the Komaram Bheem Avasali Building in Banjara Hills. During the training, the DEO said, "The role of the Election Commission should be followed. Any technical problem in EVMs during the counting will be corrected by experts." On June 4, the counting will begin at 8 am. Fourteen tables are being set up in each hall; counting will be done round-wise. Each table will have a micro observer, counting supervisor, and a counting assistant. "The role of micro-observers is very crucial in the process of counting votes transparently. The (voter verifiable paper audit trail) slip counting and postal ballot counting. Each counting staffer has been asked to perform duty carefully.

Steps have been taken to equip each counting centre with CCTVs and backup generators to maintain an uninterrupted power supply and with fire-fighting units.

"The first round of training for officials drafted for counting is going on and will be completed on Tuesday. The second round will be done once the observers arrive," he added. Election authorities urged officers to perform duty with complete transparency and commitment while following the rules. The counting of votes will be taken up at 34 locations across the State, including seven locations in the Hyderabad constituency and six locations in the Secunderabad constituency. There will be 1,855 counting tables for EVMs and 276 for postal ballots. The entire process will be closely monitored by the Election Commission to ensure a free and fair count.

Govt ITIs to include advanced skill development courses

The move will expand the scope of employment opportunities for students

KEEPING AN eye over the evolving global demand under the skilled development sector, the Central government has planned to equip its industrial training institutes (ITIs) soon with a few more advanced skill development training courses that may expand the scope of employment opportunities for the students.

From this year onwards, the students, fond of shaping their future through industrial training, will be able to choose six more advanced trades that help them polish their abilities to grab jobs globally.

"The Central government gave nod for introduction of advanced skill development courses that include Artisan using Advanced Tools, Advanced CNC Machine Technician, Basic Design and Virtual Verification (Mechanical), Industrial Robotics and Digital Manufacturing, Manufacturing Process Controlling Automations and Mechanical Electrical Vehicle," informed K. Sham ernment ITI in the Old City.

"The duration of all these courses are between 1-2 years. Students can apply online to benefit from the advanced skill development courses that are being introduced for the first time. The students can avail this opportunity by applying by June 10," he added.

It is said that of the 196 trades offered by the government ITIs throughout the country, students in Telangana are accessible to 39. With the introduction of six new advanced skill development training courses in government ITIs, the number of such trades may jump to 45 in the State.

In Telangana, there are 65 government ITIs of which eight are located in Hyderabad. Besides, there are 255 private ITIs being run. Thirty are based in the State capital.

However, it is said that lack of proper awareness or required counselling centres at local level, especially in the Old City areas, are creating a vacuum as the number of vacant seats are arguably higher than the filled positions in several government ITIs in the city.

"The government ITI in the Old City, located close to the Zoo Park, has a capacity of 456 seats. Of them 226 are filled, while 230 are vacant. However, the seats may likely increase by 145 after the introduction of new six trades," said the officer.
