It also questioned the necessity to record the statements of the accused in the presence of fresh panchas for a second time, even though the investigating officer (IO) had recorded their statements immediately after the arrest. When the counsels submitted that it was done for an efficient investigation, the commission asked: "What precious material did the police find by examining the accused for a second time?"

Justice VS Sirpurkar, the chairman of the commission, asked the counsels: "If there are discoveries, won't they be made whether the accused were involved in other crimes, Justice Sirpurkar observed: "It is not just extraordinary, it is intriguing."

'Just an ordinary crowd'

The counsels produced the photographs of 'crowds' gathered outside Cherlapally Central Prison when the accused were being sent on judicial remand. "I can only see a very ordinary crowd. Who took these photos and at what time? None of these details are here," Justice Sirpurkar pointed out.

The counsels then submitted: "These people are enough to mobilise huge crowds. Our interest was the safety of the accused."

another case and that the State would address that aspect, the commission directed questions at the IO: "Why not you? As per your instructions, they were arrested. The exchange of fire also took place under your supervision. You could have asked the doctors who had conducted the autopsy about the accused persons' age."

"If, according to you, the record about the age of the accused was absolutely clear, how do you fix them in consonance with the school records? You had ample opportunities to ask these questions to the doctors who conducted the post-mortem examination. Why did you fail to question them," the commission asked.
